Founded in 1978, CDS (Les Couscouseries Du Sud) is considered to be the first couscous production unit in the world. Couscous DIARI is appreciated for its highly demanded technical and taste quality, which allowed the brand to maintain the leader position in the national market place and succeed on several foreign markets.

The success of CDS and couscous DIARI is based on the following aspects :

- The technical superiority of its processing equipment which is subject to a continuous enhancement and development work at all levels of the manufacturing process.
- The complete integration of its activities within a group of complemented companies, which supply CDS with the various needs of raw materials necessary for its operation like durum wheat semolina and packaging.
